

Alameda Alliance for Health Guide to Breast Pumps

Alameda Alliance for Health (Alliance) is your partner in health. We are here to help you get the care you need. Breast milk is a great way to give your baby a healthy start to life. A breast pump is a resource that can help you meet your breastfeeding goals.

Do I need a breast pump? Which one?

Work with your doctor or lactation consultant (breastfeeding expert) to find out whether you need a pump. The chart below is a general guide on when to use a pump and which one you might need.

TYPE OF BREAST PUMP	WHEN TO USE	COMMON USES	CAN I KEEP IT?
 Hospital-grade double electric	Mostly used in the first weeks of life, unless it is still needed.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Baby or mother is in the hospital. • Baby or mother has certain medical issues. • Baby won't latch. • Premature baby with trouble feeding. • Diagnosed low milk supply. 	No. You will be able to borrow this pump for three (3) months or as long as your doctor or breastfeeding expert says you need it.
 Personal double electric	Breastfeeding is going well and milk supply is stable, which can take 3 to 4 weeks.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Away from baby because of return to work or school. 	Yes.
 Manual	Breastfeeding is going well and milk supply is stable, which can take 3 to 4 weeks.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Away from baby once in a while, pumping about 1 to 7 times per week. • Backup option for travel or no power source. 	Yes.

HOW DO I GET A PUMP?

Alliance Members

Talk to your doctor, your baby's doctor, or a breastfeeding expert. They can help you make a request to get one.

You can expect to have the pump sent to your home within 7 to 10 business days. If the need for a pump is urgent, it will take about 3 to 6 business days. If you have not received your pump, please call the Alliance Member Services Department at 1.510.747.4567.

Your doctor can order a manual or personal double electric pump about a month before your baby is due if you expect you will need one. It will be sent close to your due date.

Kaiser Members through the Alliance

You get your pump through Kaiser. You can order a pump after you give birth by calling Kaiser toll-free at 1.833.752.4737 or visiting breastpumps.byramhealthcare.com/kaiser.

HOW CAN I LEARN HOW TO USE THE PUMP?

The pump will come with a guide and customer service phone number. If you would like more help with pumps or any other breastfeeding concerns, please contact your doctor or Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) program. Find your local WIC office by calling 1.888.942.9675.
